The Early Presidents

George Washington 1789 to 1797

George Washington was the president of the United States from 1789 to 1797. Some of the problems Washington faced was to pay off the war debt, raise money for the government and create a national bank. Some of the outside problems Washington had to deal with was that the United States owed money to the country of France. The reason why I like George Washington is how he solved our nations problems. I also feel that Washington was our best leader in the United States because he paved the way future presidents should hold the office.
